

Bulletin and Newsletter Briefs

January 2007

prepared by CatholicCaregivers.com, a program of the Friends of St. John the Caregiver (www.FSJC.org)

Caregiving is pro-life!

“Too often . . . as a Church and as a society we have not provided adequately for the needs of caregivers. As more people provide care—and as more people receive care for longer periods of time—we must respond to this new reality.”

--United States Conference of Catholic Bishops, Blessings of Age

Caregiving is pro-life!

“Too often . . . as a Church and as a society we have not provided adequately for the needs of caregivers. As more people provide care—and as more people receive care for longer periods of time—we must respond to this new reality.”

--United States Conference of Catholic Bishops,
Blessings of Age

Caregiving is pro-life!

“When carried out in a spirit of loving self-donation and supported by faith, prayer, and the sacraments, the care of sick relatives can be transformed into an irreplaceable therapeutic instrument for the ill and become an occasion for everyone to discover precious human and spiritual values.”

--Pope John Paul II, Message for 1998 World Day of the Sick

Caregiving is pro-life!

“When carried out in a spirit of loving self-donation and supported by faith, prayer, and the sacraments, the care of sick relatives can be transformed into an irreplaceable therapeutic instrument for the ill and become an occasion for everyone to discover precious human and spiritual values.”

--Pope John Paul II, Message for 1998 World Day of the Sick